Military History Symposium Series of the United States Air Force Academy

Carl W. Reddel, Series Editor

The Academy Symposium is an internationally renowned biennial event that examines select topics in military affairs from the dual perspective of incisive scholarship and mature leadership. The rapidity of change in the craft of war combines with interrelated technical, political, social, and economic developments to form the fabric of a series essential to soldiers, scholars, and specialists. Individual subjects range from examinations of regional conflicts to more topical treatments such as intelligence and technology in warfare.
